PRESS:

LONDON: The Foreign Ministry today annouced its intention to allow foreign embassies to be established here. The announcement came after a series ofiroits which hurt the country diplomatically and forced the Russians to abandon their diplomatic post in London. Also included in the announcement was a statement that Britian was making a final all-out effort to secure treaties with the various countries of the world in an attempt to advert another European conflict.

LONDON (STENCH) The German embassy, established 1864.

I would like to make a note here, and say that the players of 72.8h still have there first game coming to them! See head for details on this. Thus they are still able to cash in on the low game prices. Games are open for all still!
